An aerial photograph of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, showing the city's layout along the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers. The image includes the downtown skyline with prominent skyscrapers like the PPG Place, the bridges crossing the rivers, and the surrounding urban and industrial areas. The photograph is partially obscured by a white diagonal strip.

Foreword

From this small fortress a mighty city grew. On the following pages we have attempted to compare a year of our high school life with a modern city—Pittsburgh.

Cathedral of Learning

*I will always remember you.
Don't forget all the good times, B.
even the music Dinner Dance
Frank Lem.*

FRANK STULEN, President—"Lem" is the fun-loving president of our senior class. A good student, a jokester, and a capable leader, Frank will long be remembered by his classmates.

So you're well thought of by all. Tap it up Babs. Reputation is a big thing.

BRYAN MOOREHEAD, Vice President—Happy-go-lucky, and possessor of a large vocabulary, Bryan is rumored to be the most handsome of the senior boys. We wish we knew his recipe for popularity.

JANET WHITE, Secretary—A captivating smile, a flicker of bright eyes, and a winning personality only half describe this most charming girl. All in all, we can say she is l-o-v-e-l-y.

HARRY FAWCETT, Treasurer—Herein lies a vast amount of potential ability which has never been called into use. Keen wit, good companionship, and the desire to be a doctor sum up Harry's characteristics.

Best of everything to my dear neighbor Fawcett

So sweet and of the junior class? I am

MARY FRANCES ACKERMAN—Dark hair, brown eyes, a merry smile—that's the leading lady in our class, as well as in our plays. "Mary Fran" is co-editor of the Belle Hop.

Frances is a familiar figure in the sewing room, and her nimble fingers have turned out many enviable things. Such a quiet, sincere person as this is sure to go far.

FRANCES AMON—Frances is a familiar figure in the sewing room, and her nimble fingers have turned out many enviable things. Such a quiet, sincere person as this is sure to go far.

FLORENCE ARMSTRONG—Dolly is perhaps the sweetest and best humored of our senior lasses. She is enthusiastic and competent in everything she does. One never has a dull moment when Dolly's around.

DOROTHY ARNOLD—Dorothy has a disposition and manner we all admire. Consistence, by far her most prevalent virtue, is sure to be a help in making her a successful costume designer.

WILLIAM BAILEY—Bill is small, blond, and very active, especially in the line of devilment. His interests don't lie in school, for he is never to be found idling away time after dismissal.

JACK BALD—As the wind goes—so goes "Baldy." Ninety-two or ninety-four miles an hour is not uncommon for that "cycle" of his. A friendly greeting, a hearty laugh, and—"zoom!" he's gone.

WILLIAM BARGER—Bill's chief hobby is breaking chemistry equipment. His originality and talkativeness have won many friends for him. You may often see him munching candy or cowboying his car.

Don't forget the Chemistry or—already done

AUDREY BARNES—Audrey seems to be in everything—orchestra, glee club, G. A. C.'s, and G. R.'s. She's also a capable library assistant and is just full of school spirit.

Seniors

ANTOINETTE BIRSIC—"Antie's" constant chatter annoys Mr. Shope—at least, he claims it does. She is very neat in appearance, quite a movie fan, and is president of the French Club.

DORIS BLOOMER—Doris' lovely smile has wrought havoc in many masculine hearts. She is efficient, as well as industrious, and leaves no doubt as to her coming success as a secretary.

ROBERT BOARDMAN—Yippeel "Boots" turned his thoughts away from the West and put in a splendid season at football and basketball this year. We wish you success in your life's ambition, Bob.

ELEANOR BODNER—At the beginning of the year Eleanor was just another "new girl." Now she has won her way into everyone's heart. Her winning personality will undoubtedly make her successful.

MARY LOUISE BARRETT—"Music hath charm"—so hath Mary Louise; in fact, she has everything required of the perfect all-around student. Excellent grades and innumerable activities fill "Barry's" time, leaving but few moments to spare.

MILDRED BARTON—"Millie's" ready laugh and good sense of humor made possible her excellent performance in the senior play. She has beautiful red-gold hair which is truly her crowning glory.

CHARLES BEAM—"Chuck" came to us three years ago from Evans City. He devotes most of his time to commercial studies and art work for the Belle Hop.

WARREN BEAVER—Put-put-put! There goes Beaver on his motorcycle. No, he's not scared; his hair just won't stay down. This young man's interests are mechanics and Sewickley.

ETHEL BENDER—Ethel is another of our competent commercial students. She may usually be found either typing a stencil or turning the crank on the mimeograph machine.

WILLIAM BERGER—Quiet to the "nth" degree. Slow, deliberate, and rather shy, yet Bill never misses a trick. He attends more sporting events per year than any three people, and loves to argue about them.

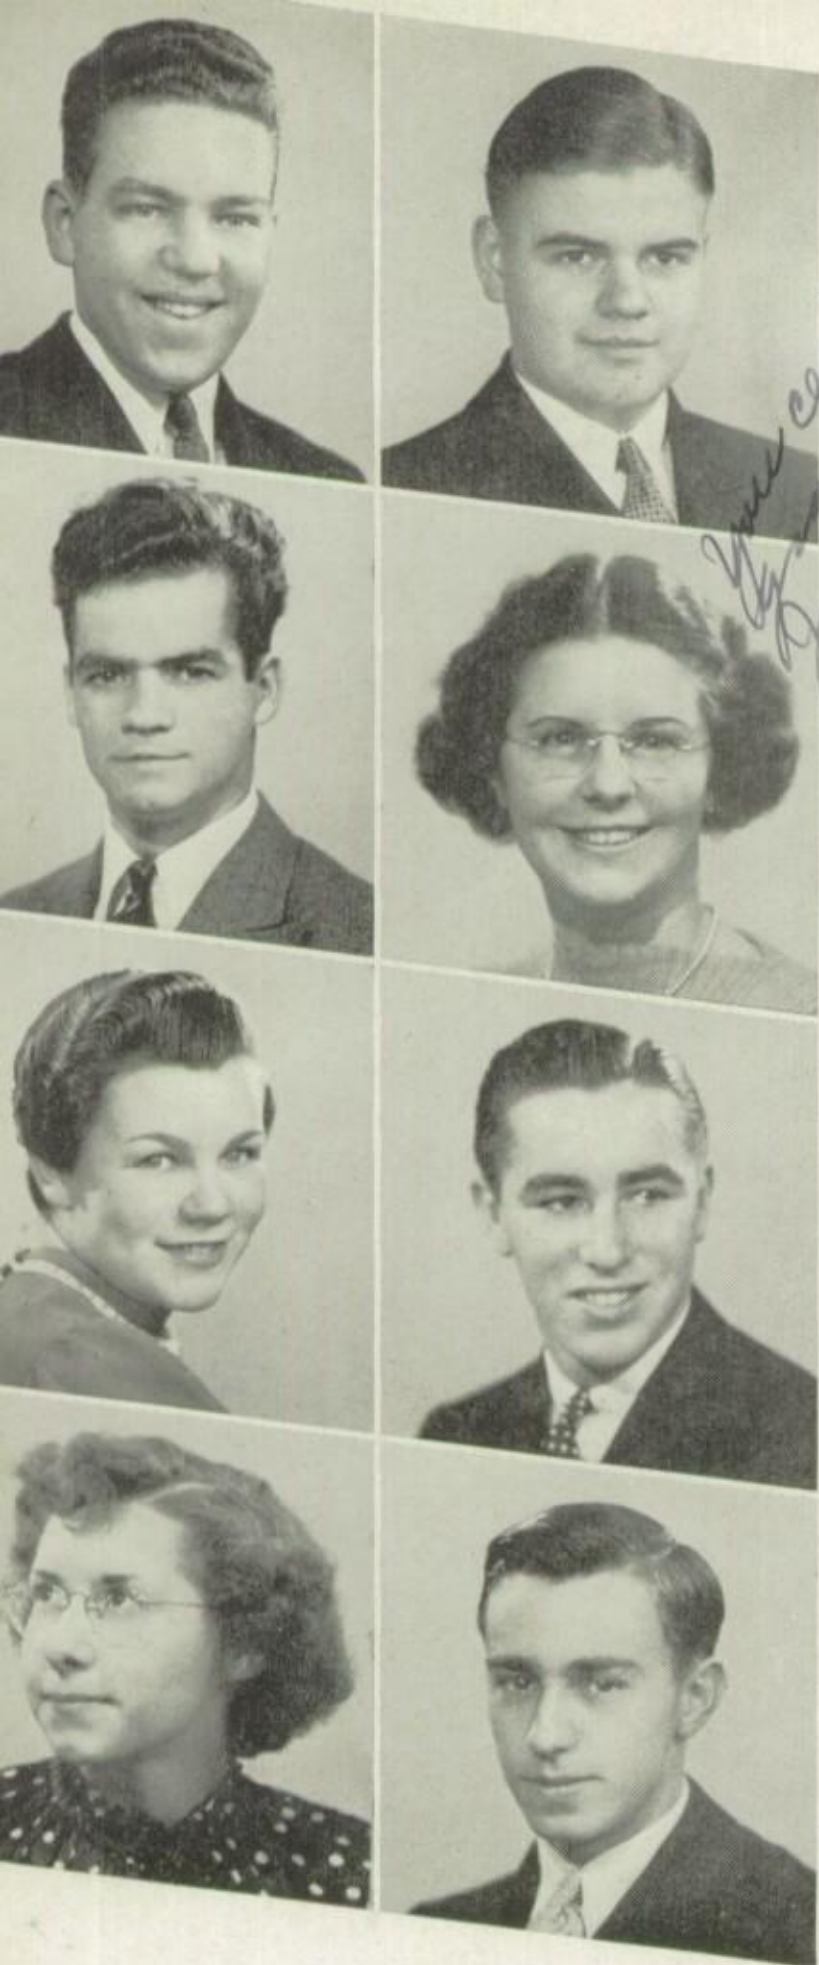

GRACE BETCHER—Grace and "Dot" seem to be inseparable, and they really do have a lot of fun together. Grace's interests lie in her "dream boy" from West View.

GRAVES BIRNIE—Graves is a very suitable name. However, his seriousness relaxes when he is out of school and he becomes happy and carefree. Graves is difficult to beat on the tennis courts.

Bill Berger

Seniors

Seniors

You certainly are the good looking one. You must be a Junior. Play tennis.

WALTER BONNELL—Walt's spirit held our line together during many a football game last fall. "Love me, love my car" seems to be his motto, for he is seldom seen without the Ford.

WILLIS BOWMAN—"It is good to be merry and wise." A scholarship, the N. H. S., Student Council, a keen sense of humor, and a great love for baseball may all be added to his credit.

JAMES BRACKEN—Jim's outstanding characteristics are wavy black hair and glistening white teeth. His favorite sports are boxing and football. As coach of the Grant Midget football team he was quite successful.

MARJORIE BRADEN—Nothing is too much or too hard for Marjorie to do, either in the many organizations of which she is a member, or in the classroom. Her initiative will be a valuable asset to her in later life.

MARY BRANNAN—No dull moments are spent with Mary while she is still able to coax a tune out of a piano. Her bright blue eyes and keen sense of humor betray her Irish ancestry.

ROBERT CASEY—This handsome Irish lad prefers basketball in the way of sports and—is it a blond or a brunette—in the way of ladies? "Faith, and Casey proved himself to be a real actor in 'Charm School'."

JACQUELINE CHARLES—"Jackie" and Dot seem to have a lot in common; at least, they're always together. We understand that collecting theater programs has recently become one of her hobbies.

THOMAS CHANEY—From West View, Tom came to Bellevue to complete his schooling. He has amused a surprisingly large number of students with his original antics and sharp witticisms.

JOSEPH CHRISTIE—Joe leaves behind him four years of hard study and a long list of activities. We can record to his credit presidency of the Hi-Y, membership in the orchestra, choir and Student Council.

FRANK COMELLA—Frank is that small, dark-haired, bright-eyed fellow hailing from West View. His interests lean toward ice-skating, driving and talking.

WILLIAM CULLISON—Bill is by far the best and most interesting of the classroom clowns. If you want to argue, call Bill—the subject doesn't matter—of course, it's all in fun.

HARRIET DAUBER—Harriet has that enviable faculty of finding something nice to say about everyone. This quality has gained her many friends throughout the school, particularly among the freshmen.

To Babs a swell looking gal. Good luck in the future. Please don't ever forget me. Bill Cullison class.

Dear Barbara - I don't know just what to write. We've helped each other a lot - at least you've helped me. I'm glad we finally began to understand each other a little better. Love, Shir
Seniors
"Locusts"

EGON DeZUBAY—A "social lion" is what "Butch" has developed into after two years of nothing to boast of but good grades. That convertible coupe was given to him by his father so he would have something left of his own to drive to work in.

JEROME DIXON—Jerry is well known to his friends as the "Senator." Half of his time is devoted to baseball, while the rest is consumed by basketball and other sports.

SHIRLEY DODDS—Refreshing, to say the least, when she lets loose that contagious giggle of hers. "Shir" is envied for two things—her absolute sincerity and her ability to handle capably anything she undertakes.

HARRIET DOERFLER—Harriet's sparkling blue eyes never miss a trick. Her reddish-gold hair and springy step are enviable assets. She is a most important member of G. A. C.'s

MARION DOWLING—Marion is known for her lovely smile, her friendly nod, and her willingness to help out. She is seen at most of the social functions with "Art" Hattman.

HELEN DOWNS—"Love me, love my cello" seems to be Helen's motto, for it's her constant companion. We know she has certainly proved her worth in the orchestra and has helped win those contests.

DORIS DUNCAN—Doris brought her activeness with her when she came from Samuel Hamilton, and has become a most valuable member of the Girl Reserves and the Commercial Club.

ROBERT DUNCAN—"Buz," like many others, is athletically inclined. One sees his best performances in tennis and basketball. Though he possesses all the desirable qualifications, Bob is rather indifferent to the weaker sex.

See Barbara - I don't know just what to write. We've helped each other a lot - at least you've helped me. I'm glad we finally began to understand each other a little better. Love, Shir
Do any good - bye to Harriet
from your friend Shir

Lots of luck a swell girl Dunc.

LOIS DAVIES—It is hard to find this attractive girl in the building after the last bell has rung. A certain young man from the East End apparently takes up most of Lois' time.

AUDINE DEAR—Audine came to us from Avalon and showed us right away what a good student she really was. However, Audine's biggest interests are out of school, or that diamond has us all fooled.

JEAN DE CARLO—Bellevue High's modiste! Jean is noted not only for her ability to wear clothes, but also for her knack of designing them.

LORRAINE DELL—Lorraine stopped in her traveling long enough to put in a year at Bellevue. Surely, Beaver High has missed this quiet Miss as much as we shall.

*To a very nice girl.
Good luck.
Chuck.*

CHARLES EGAN—Ingram's loss was Bellevue's gain when "Chuck" came to us. He enjoys dancing and driving immensely, which probably accounts for his popularity with both boys and girls.

JOHN EGLY—Jack's ability to play the drums has made him a valuable member of both the band and orchestra. He likes to talk, to wear the smartest of clothes, and, so we hear, to visit.

JOAN ESHELMAN—Joan's snapping black eyes seem to challenge everyone to be her friend. Although a talented pianist, she favors a commercial career and plans to enroll in Margaret Morrison next fall.

HAYDEN EVANS—"Babe" has only been with us two years, coming to us from West View. He divides his time fairly well between loafing in Bard's, and keeping Joe and Ethel company.

Patricia
Joan
Eddie
A B C*

LOISJEAN FALCK—Peppy, good-looking, and an interesting conversationalist is Loisjean. She's one of our many classmates from Samuel Hamilton and is most often seen dancing or walking home with a redhead named Russell.

EDWARD FISHER—Eddie is famous for three things: his contagious laugh, his closely-cropped head, and his failures in love. The girls all think he's "cute" and the boys are proud to be his friend.

JOHN FITZPATRICK—"Fitz" was influential in the success of the activities of the Student Council and the senior class. He is seldom seen with any girls—perhaps his bow ties scare them.

MARY ELIZABETH FLEMING—When describing Mary Elizabeth one can't fail to mention the mellow glow of her auburn hair. A pleasing personality and just the right amount of vitality make her a desirable friend.

MARY FLETCHER—We all know Mary as being very sweet and congenial; a disposition like hers is a priceless possession. Mary goes about her work quietly and always does it well.

JOHN FORREST—They make 'em strong and silent down in "Ramtown." John is a striking example. He was quite active in the Art Club, but turned his attentions this year to the Commercial Club.

ROBERT GADD—"Boob's" line play last fall will not be forgotten for a good while in Bellevue. Slow and good-natured, Bob has made many friends. His "Waterloo" is mathematics.

JOSEPH GODKIN—Joe entered our stately portals in his junior year. We understand that this handsome, deep-voiced young man's interests lie in one of our local theaters and in a certain young lady called Dorothy.

Seniors

*To a very lovely girl.
I wish you all the success in the
Bob Gadd*

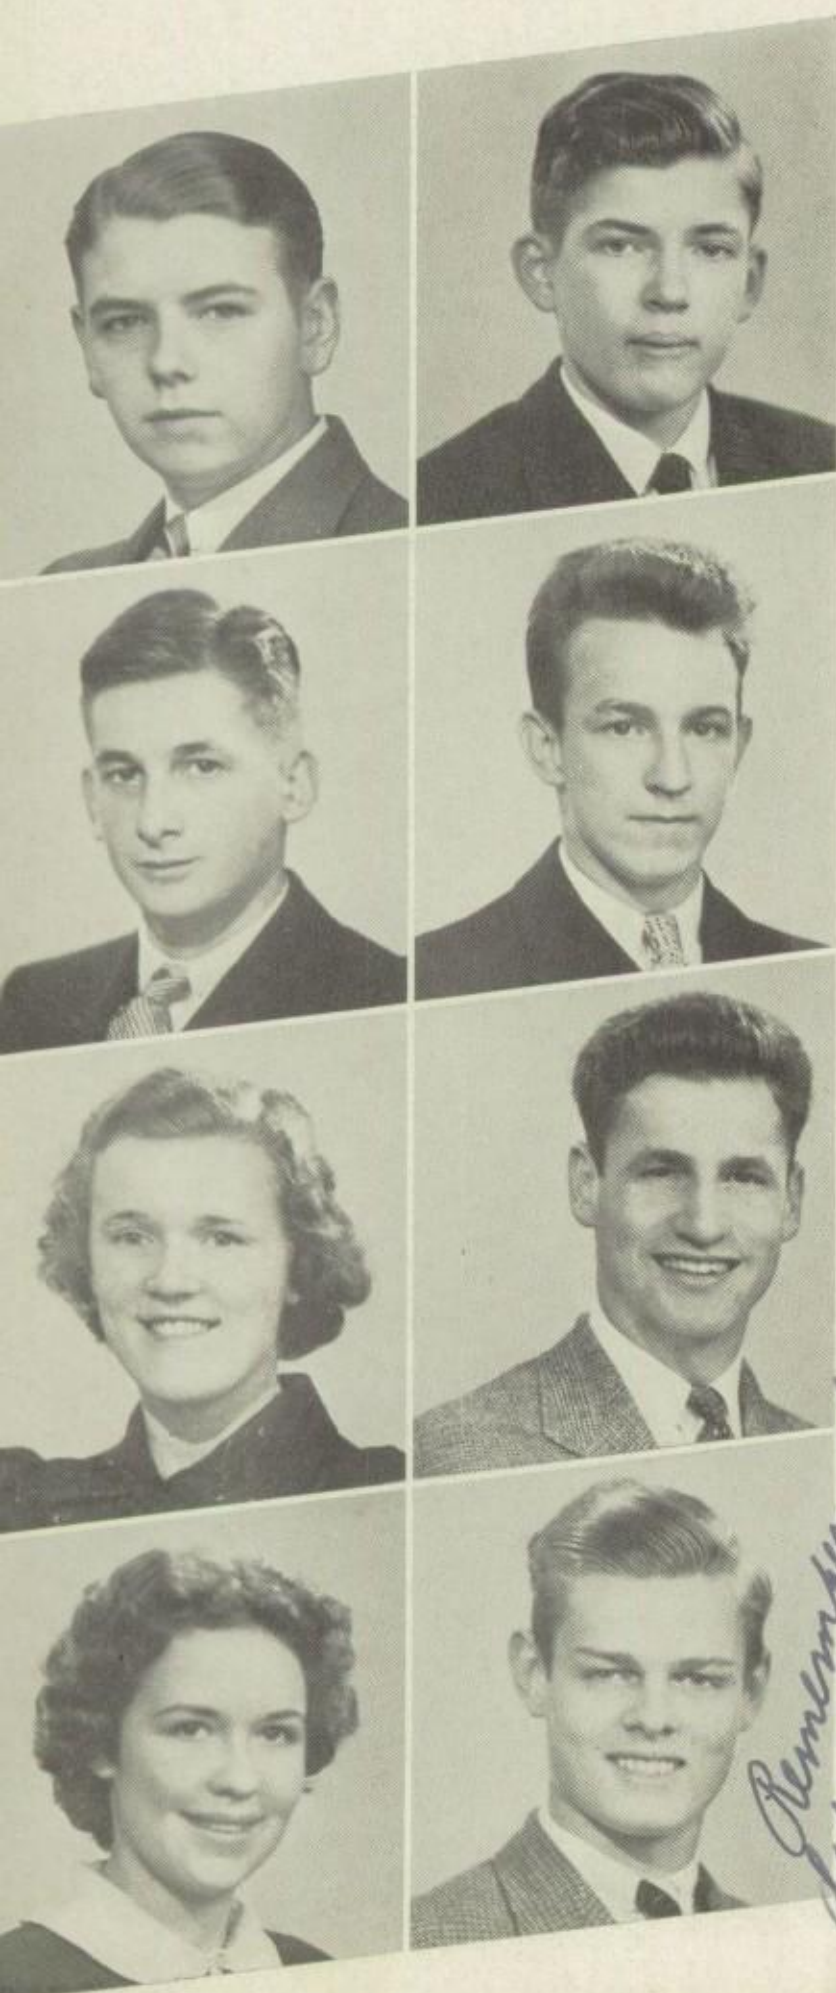

ARTHUR HELT—Schoolward Mr. Helt plods his weary way—all the way from West View. Art says the next best thing to dancing is watching Reif's chemical apparatus blow up.

JAMES HEURING—Jim has gained fame from his versatility in track as the varsity miler. His ability to argue in class has proved a joy to his classmates and a headache to the teachers.

BETTY HINDS—Sweet, charming, attractive—one tosses these words aside and seeks better ones while attempting to describe Betty. She's "just a little bit independent" and has lots of individuality. There aren't many like our Betty.

JEAN HUEBNER—Jean is famous for her lovely brown hair and her stylish clothes. She will undoubtedly be popular at Westminster, where she hopes to enroll in September as a secretarial student.

CHARLES GOODNOUGH—Chuck's quiet, ever-ready smile is familiar to all of us. He is a staunch supporter of Hi-Y and may be seen at all of the sporting events.

CURTIS GRIFFITH—We intend to praise Caesar, not to bury him—praise for that extraordinary interest Curtis takes in his studies. He intends to follow his hobby and be an aeronautical engineer.

WILLIAM GUTTENDORF—"Gutty" is a "nut" on all sports, particularly when it comes to baseball. We will wager that his many friends will miss his pleasant manner and stiff bowling competition.

JOHN HABEL—"Shine" is very quiet and hard to locate. In fact, he seems to disappear as soon as school is out. Baseball, of all the sports, is his perpetual interest.

ESTHER HANNA—Esther is most often seen giggling with Jean in the halls or bending over a thick volume. She is quiet and dependable, yet always ready to have a good time.

WILLIAM HARRIS—Bill is tall, red-haired, and handsome. He has quite a way with the women and may be seen at most of the dances. Woodwork, chorus, and decorating for dances seem to be Bill's hobbies.

RUTH HARTLEY—Though she makes a terrific amount of noise, she is perfectly harmless. If individuality means anything toward success, then Ruth will be "tops." One is never bored when Ruth is around.

ARTHUR HATTMAN—Planning to attend Annapolis, Art has put in many a serious hour of study. He captured the leading part in the senior play and acted it to perfection.

Remember the days that you robbed us Art

*Don't you stay here long
I'll tell the reason why.
The wall will tumble down
When you SENIORS
—Bill*

Seniors

JACK INGLES—Jack's stately, reserved manner and brown, wavy hair have caused many a young girl's heart to flutter. He has always been held in high respect by his classmates.

KENNETH JACKSON—Ken is extremely slow and deliberate. Attending social events and eating keep Kenny busy when he is not doing his homework.

JAMES JANES—"Skitch," our honest-to-goodness Scotsman, possesses keen wit. He excels musically as a drum major, bugler, and orchestra violinist.

GEORGE JOHNSTON—If asking questions is a sign of intelligence, then George is extraordinarily brilliant. Anyhow, the habit is bound to be an aid in his ambition to be a leading journalist.

EDWIN KEAN—Ed lived up to the reputation he got at Oliver for being a whiz of an all-around athlete and a splendid dancer. Martha and he certainly make a charming pair.

FRANCES KELLER—"Irish" is a good nickname for Frances. Her quick temper and ready smile are known throughout the school. She leads the class in every sport and loves to ride her bike.

DOROTHY KELLY—It is known far and wide that "Dot" possesses the longest eyelashes and most expressive eyes in the school. She has won many friends through her willingness to help out.

LAURA KLEMZ—Laura is "Klemmy" to all her friends. Nothing seems to change her cheerful outlook on life. She has shown her leadership as secretary and vice president of G. A. C.'s.

EDITH KNAPP—"Edie" and her camera are often seen around Bellevue. Always cheerful and talkative, she helps us through the boring part of school. We'll miss "Edie."

JAMES KNOX—The class of '38's staunch Democrat, when not attending to his duties as basketball manager, is usually seen hunting for a Republican with whom to argue. "Wimpy" should make the best of politicians.

DOROTHY KONKLE—Only one glance at those smiling blue eyes is needed to know that Dorothy enjoys life to the utmost. Making friends is the easiest thing this young lady does.

JOSEPH KOONTZ—Joe is often seen in his Ford with his thick blond hair ruffling in the breeze. Aside from his love for tinkering with the lizzie, he has quite an interest in dramatics.

*Love & Luck
Edie*

Seniors

DAVID LEWIS—Dave is an easy person to find—he towers above everyone around him. Apparently he is immune to the feminine arts, although his good looks make the subject of much comment among the girls.

RAYMOND LOVE—Ray has weakened once or twice and procured himself a date for our dances. He is a loyal supporter of Hi-Y and looks toward Philadelphia to complete his schooling.

JACK MALLON—Practically stealing the show in the senior play only added to Jack's popularity. He is usually seen with Fawcett and the "Gang" at the dances, games, and other activities.

HUBERT MALLOY—"Ubi" is well versed in all sports and is seen at most every local and away game. A look of divine innocence precedes all of his puns and practical jokes.

DOROTHY MARLIN—"Dot" is going to make someone a good secretary with her excellent typing and good looks. We always see her with "Jackie" and they seem to have a lot of fun together.

BETTY MARSHALL—Her sparkling brown eyes and beautiful smile have made Betty a popular person in Bellevue High. It will be Bellevue's loss next year when she goes to Grove City.

RUTH MASTERSON—When deviltry's afoot we know Ruth is around. Impish eyes, gamin grin, pep, vitality—that's Ruth. Remember her as mischievous "Muriel" in the senior play!

WILLIAM McALEER—When better grades are made, Bill will make them—as is evidenced by his membership in N. H. S. However, he still has time to be an active Student Council member and an amateur radio "ham."

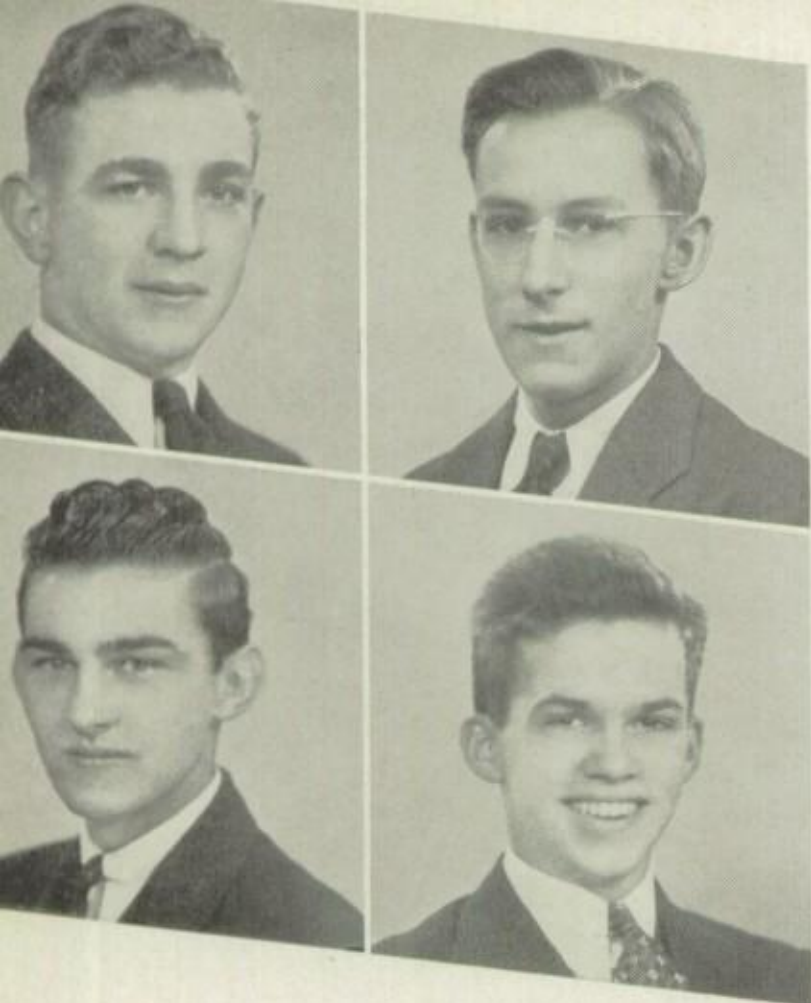

ROBERT KRESS—Bob has individuality, something all of us need. School activities don't appeal to him, but he likes to dress up and "cowboy" his car about town.

DOROTHY KUNTZ—Dorothy belongs to that group of quiet and efficient commercial students of whom Bellevue is so proud. She does her work, whether typing, shorthand, or office-practice, quickly and easily.

FRANCES LESNOSKA—Frances has been in Bellevue only a year, and due to illness is seldom in school. We wish we had gotten to know you better, Frances.

JOHN Le WALK—John is an ardent follower of all sports and is recognized by his friendly grin. He is constantly seen in the company of Dave Lewis at the games and around school.

*Good luck
to a swell
sweet/loose
Bob.*

ROBERT McANULTY—A great deal was expected of "Mac" in athletics until he was forced to quit, due to injuries. Though quiet and reserved, he has a special interest in the sophomores.

HARVEY McCAMPBELL—Harvey is with us so frequently that only a few of us have gotten to know him. We do know, however, that he likes music and is extremely friendly.

ROBERT McCARTNEY—We've often wondered how "Banknite" McCartney finds enough time for his school work and his job at the theater. Wearing loud bow ties and having an occasional date constitute Bob's recreation.

DONALD McCLENAHAN—Hail, Mischief! That's Don, always in trouble, wherein springs his ability to talk himself out of a hole or someone else into one. But it's never serious, for he's well liked and eager to make friends.

BETTY McCRAE—Betty can almost always be found in the office-practice room, with her fingers flying over the typewriter keys. Her bright black eyes seem to challenge everyone to be her friend.

JOHN McGRATH—The stillness is often broken by John's laugh or serious arguments involving his beloved sports. He is a good basketball player and the vice president of the Emsworth Hi-Y.

IDA MAY McWILLIAMS—Ida May thoroughly enjoys school—whether she is studying industriously, writing up her Belle Hop assignment, swimming with the G. A. C.'s, playing her flute in the orchestra, or just talking to Walter.

RALPH MEISTER—Ralph's main interests lie not in school, but in scouting. He is very far advanced and holds down quite a responsible position in one of the local Scout troops.

CHARLES METZGER—"Chuck" is rather studious and has never given the girls a break. He has obtained the rank of Eagle Scout, and prefers paling around with Jackson to our social events.

NELSON MOFFETT—Handsome, congenial, and full of pep, "Nels" came from Williamsport to win the friendship of everyone in Bellevue. He has long been admired for his ability to play a good game of football and to win the hearts of many girls.

ROBERT MOODY—Ordinarily rather quiet, Bob loosens up a bit when dragged into a discussion on most forms of athletics. He plans to attend Carnegie Tech to study electrical engineering.

RALPH MORCROFT—"Red's" name stands with the greatest of our Bellevue athletes. He captained our football and basketball teams, and starred on the track field, yet his favorite sport is hill-climbing with Mary Fran.

Seniors

Hi. Babs I know you say that I really like you when I haven't heard around me only saying the haven't heard around I'm only saying this year. I'll be an awful good time next year. Babs

KATHLEEN O'REILLY—Kathleen is truly Irish. Many a class has been sent into gales of laughter over a witty remark from this cheery young Miss. She will certainly make an excellent secretary.

DOROTHY JANE RALPH—Darling is the word for Dottie. She leads Girl Reserve devotions with a sweet sincerity. Her tongue seems to be loose at both ends, but this merely adds to her personality.

DORIS OTTO—And here we have the inseparables—the two most famous and likeable persons from Emsworth—the Otto twins. You will always find them attractively dressed and in the best of good humors.

DOROTHY OTTO—This alone has won them many, many friends throughout the school. Attempting to tell them apart we can only say that Dorothy is the taller and Doris the more talkative.

JEAN MORGAN—Jean is one of our staunch home economics supporters and a loyal Girl Reserve. One seldom hears about Jean, but when they do, it is usually to her credit.

CLARE MUCHOW—Clare has such a sweet, shy manner we can't help liking her. Besides this, she is a good student. You keep too much to yourself, Clare, we complain.

ROBERT MUELLER—Tall, lanky, and seldom in a hurry is Bob. He has never been interested in high school athletics, but he may often be seen playing baseball or mushball with his friends.

JAMES MURRAY—Jim possesses an excellent knowledge of firearms and a well-developed vocabulary. In spite of his frequent absences, Jim gets good grades—maybe because he's a "bachelor."

JOHN MURRAY—John is an excellent soda jerker, a man about town, and a harmless practical joker. Just ask Betty whether he is a good basketball player and if he can dance well.

GRACE NEILSON—Anyone asking for Grace is sent immediately to the office-practice room. Here, with a smudge of mimeograph ink on her nose, and smiling cheerfully, you may find this diligent Miss.

Dear Babs you're finger nails! I love them! Evelyn
EVELYN OLIVER—There is no limit to the time or effort that Evelyn will spend on a job that has been assigned to her. She will undoubtedly make a success of everything she attempts.

JOHN O'NEIL—John's contagious laugh continually keeps the Emsworth bunch in an uproar on their street-car jaunts. His deep voice commands attention and seems to please the Avalon girls.

HELEN REA—Industriousness is Helen's chief characteristic and her responsible Belle Hop position proves it. She works hard and gets good grades. Ice-skating seems to be Helen's favorite sport.

TOM REDMAN—Calling CQ, calling CQ. We present another radio "bug." Collecting radio verification cards, producing good grades, and driving his car keep Tom well occupied.

EDWARD REIF—Crash! Bang! There goes more of Reif's chemical apparatus. Ed certainly was harrassed in chemistry; however, as the business manager of the Belle Hop and as an orchestra member, he has been very successful.

VIRGINIA RIDER—Though Virginia has only been with us a short time, she is known by all. Pardon the southern accent, or is it New York—anyhow, we like it.

BETTY RIGGS—Betty's conservative manner has made her a valuable friend to those closest to her. While in school she has been a dependable member of the Belle Hop staff and has proved herself reliable in all she has undertaken.

MARGARET ROCKEY—"Marg" is a tiny person, but her vivacious personality makes her extremely popular. She is a member of the G. A. C.'s, a terror on the soccer field, and an excellent dancer.

EDWARD ROGERS—"Pickles" is our scenery expert, proving himself an asset to both the junior and the senior plays. A candid camera enthusiast, a track "half-miler," a champion at making friends—we couldn't ask for much more.

JEAN SARGENT—"Sarge," naturally, has both the poise and the charm she displayed in the senior play. She is also active and capable enough to be vice president of the Girl Reserves.

EDWARD SAUER—"Oats" is one of our best football players and an excellent ice-skater. When he came from Samuel Hamilton in his junior year he was recognized by his cowlick and talkativeness.

NORMA SCHEIDE—Norma is quiet and very shy, but her sweet smile has won the key to many hearts. She has an infectious giggle that goes hand in hand with her bright blue eyes.

VIOLA SCHMITZER—A vivacious manner, twinkling blue eyes, an insane giggle, and a particularly hearty interest in the G. A. C.'s describe Viola. She may usually be found with "Marg."

JAMES SCHNEIDER—All aboard! Here comes another street-car rider from Emsworth. Like most modest people, Jim is lots of fun and interesting to talk with once you get to know him.

Dear you, I've loved you being yours. I've a friend I've forgot-me-not. Love "Sarge" "Bagger"

Seniors

EILEEN SOISSON—Eileen has reached the height of her high school career as the efficient business manager of the Annual. Behind her she leaves a long, emblazoned trail of activities.

DOROTHY STEWART—"Dot," who is known as one of the West View charmers, came to Bellevue in her junior year. She is an excellent dancer and is always besieged by requests to dance the Suzie Q, Big Apple, or Shag.

MAXIE STONEROD—"Say it with your eyes"—that's Maxie's motto. Although outstanding scholastically, socially, and coiffurely, her greatest enjoyment is sleeping. Ever listen to the boys yell when she leads those cheers at the games?

ADALINE SUMMERS—Almost all of Adaline's time is devoted to doing bookkeeping, and then lending it to her friends. There's always a circle of friends around her desk, no matter what class she may be in.

NANCY SUNDSTROM—Petite and very pretty, Nancy is the sweetheart of the class of '38. Her grades are the envy of all, yet she still finds time for the Belle Hop and Girl Reserves.

GENE THOMPSON—Gene is another expert typist, and our office assistant. Who would ever think such small hands could be so capable? She also has a voice of melting sweetness which charms us.

JACK THOMPSON—"I don't get it," says Jack. You see, he is a typical Englishman when it comes to jokes and puns. Jack gets his greatest enjoyment from gymnastics and football.

WILLIAM THOMPSON—Bill is a rather quiet member of our class whose chief hobby is annoying the girls in room four. He always seem to be unconcerned and free from cares.

MARIE SCHONIE—Marie is certain proof that blushing is not a lost art. This attractive young lady has caught the eye of many a high school lad, and, in one case, has held it.

FORREST SCHUMACHER—The honored few who have penetrated "Fordy's" outward aloofness find him a quiet yet loyal friend. It is something deeper than his debonair good looks that stirs feminine hearts and commands masculine friendship.

MARY LOUISE SMITH—"Smitty" shines in every sport, and was an able president of G. A. C.'s. Her serious blue eyes and quick smile attract everyone, for they reveal a sincere and loyal personality. an attractive girl.

I mean you, Smitty
VERONICA SMITH—Attractive, vivacious, friendly—and that's not even a beginning. Adjectives are futile in describing the sweet personality of this young Miss. "Veron" is known and loved by all.

*So
flicking
miss. So long
Tish*

JOANNE TISHLARICH—"Tish" has a finger in every pie. A member of nearly all the organizations in the school, she still excels in her classes. Avalon is her preference when it comes to boys.

BETTY TWADDLE—Twinkling blue eyes and a dimpled smile belong to Miss Twaddle. These assets are probably some of the reasons for Jack's ardent devotion.

EVALINE VAN ARSDALE—"Her voice is rather soft and low, an excellent thing in women." People always look a second time at her big brown eyes. They seem to reflect an interesting personality.

JEAN VAN VRANKEN—Jean's the poet in our midst. However, this is not her only achievement, for she is also an active G. A. C. and chorus member. Jean is such a capable person we know she'll make a name for herself.

GRACE WAGGONER—Grace's pleasant disposition contradicts the old combination of a quick temper and red hair. She is always surrounded by a circle of friends.

SAMUEL WALLISER—Sam's devotion to Gracie is an old, old story. Planning to become a chemical engineer, he has been attending night school for his needed credits.

PHYLLIS WASHINGTON—Here is one person who knows how to get "A's." The secret is hard work and perseverance. Phyllis is liked for her charming manner and flashing smile.

RAYMOND WASILAK—Ray towers over his classmates, being a mere six feet, two inches. He is a constant reader and a consistent moviegoer; modern jazz is his favorite music.

FRED WEINGARTZ—Fred very seldom makes his presence known. Perhaps this "man of few words attitude" is due to a romance, at least we've heard rumors of a girl and a skating rink.

Seniors

RICHARD WOODWARD—Although he didn't know it, Dick created quite a stir when he came to Bellevue. Too bad, girls, but his interests are in Ohio—if you can judge anything by those week-end trips.

JANE ZEISLER—Jane is one of the quiet commercial students, dependable and always ready to do one a service. Her hobbies are movie stars and talking to Norma.

JACK WHITE—Jack holds the title of Bellevue's youngest senior. His job in an Emsworth drug store and the presidency of the Commercial Club take up most of his time outside school hours.

CHESTER WILLIAMS—Chester is as noisy and good-natured a person as you would want to meet. He always finds time between dismissal and detention to smoke his pipe. His summers are spent in Balph Park.

FRANCIS WILLIAMS—Francis is one of our class artists and also a candid camera fiend. His ready wit has made many a class a little more entertaining.

FREDERICK WILSON—Fred's intelligence may be attributed to his extensive reading of good literature. Well talented in acting, Fred was excellently cast as the stern Mr. Johns in the senior play.

RICHARD WOHLER—Successful in football and basketball, our up-and-coming admiral's next achievement will probably be along the great "white" way. Dick's most frequent pastime is loafing about the school with Murray.

CHARLES WOLFORD—"Chuck" is a typical boy, being carefree, friendly, and devilish. It doesn't take much coaxing to get him away from studying and interested in a game of baseball.

ROGER WOOD—This happy-go-lucky boy can really be serious at times. His hard work as co-editor of the Belle Hop and his interest in the Scouts show evidence of this. Roger's ambition is to be an Army Cadet.

Girl RESERVES

So much has been said about the purpose of the G. R.'s that nothing more need be added. Suffice it to say that we join the Girl Reserve group to acquire new friends, and to gain experience that will benefit us later in our lives.

At the beginning of the school year the Girl Reserve cabinet held a retreat at North Park, and made tentative plans for the year's program. The season opened with the annual Big and Little Sister party at which the new and old members got acquainted. In October, Miss Ann Baker from Horne's spoke to us on fashions, emphasizing the latest styles in autumn colors. The underclass G. R.'s sponsored two meetings, the Father-Daughter Banquet, a treat for dad, and a Talent Night, to show the older girls what they were capable of doing. At a January meeting a tea in honor of the mothers was held. A Valentine's Day party and play were given in February. The highlights of the next two months were a Spring Swing and a fashion show. In May good-bye was said to the graduates at the Senior Farewell Banquet, which brought to a close a most successful year for the Girl Reserves.

Is a swell girl. I would like to know you better. Dot Kennedy

Best of luck

Hi - Y

OFFICERS—Christie, Fawcett, Skiles, Wick
Thompson, Milliken, Gadd.

Dining, merriment, and meditation! Within the compass of one hour each Monday night, the Hi-Y Club, led by "Monty," ministered to the physical needs, the social requirements, and spiritual aspirations of its members.

Each meeting was preceded by a dinner, the success of which was assured by the culinary contributions of the boys' mothers. The short business meeting which followed was usually climaxed by one of "Monty's" long-to-be-remembered talks on life's various perplexing problems. Outstanding among the special meetings was Girls' Night. Each fellow brought his "fairest of the fair" and experienced a most delightful evening from start to finish. On Dad's Night the fathers accompanied their sons to the meeting, which they evidently enjoyed, as they seemed loathe to leave. In the line of special activities something new and different was organized—a bowling league consisting of six teams. By the looks of the increased attendance and the spirited competition this has proved the most favorable of all the activities.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is a strictly honorary organization of long standing in Bellevue High School. Its charter was granted May 12, 1926.

The object of this society is to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in the pupils of Bellevue High School. Membership is based on scholarship, service, leadership, and character. New members are voted in by the faculty and are formally initiated in an assembly program. Candidates must stand in the first fourth of their classes in scholarship and have spent at least one year in Bellevue High School. The present total membership is seventy-three boys and one hundred and forty-one girls. Although there are no club activities, members are expected to uphold the high ideals set forth and to encourage others in striving toward the same goal.

"As the keystone is placed by the builder to hold the perfect arch in perpetual stability, so the structure of our education must be held firm and true to the purposes of life by the virtues represented by this symbol."

Student Council

"A motion has been made and seconded that the meeting be adjourned. All those in favor signify by the usual sign of 'aye'." President Frank Stulen has just brought another of the many Student Council meetings to a close.

The Student Council functioned in a very practical manner, touching various phases of school life. The room representatives sponsored the sale of tickets in addition to collecting admissions at all contests. Members were also stationed through the halls to keep the traffic running smoothly and to be of assistance to any of the faculty, should the need arise. A modern, well-equipped public address system, purchased by the Council, proved a valuable asset in assembly programs. To pay for this system the Council held a number of informal dances in the gymnasium. Not only were these financially successful, but they filled a long-felt need for an activity which would promote friendliness among the students. The "human touch" was introduced to this conglomeration of activities by staging a benefit basketball game for "Jimmy" Weppner.

Now, at the end of the school year, we can look back on the most successful term the Student Council has ever experienced. Their activities flew fast and thick and were carried out to perfection, thus making the students realize the importance of the Council.

Dear Babe:

Well here we are seniors. Three years of fun gone + one coming up.
Many that are be filled with

If April 1 is the deadline for all copy, then on March 31 (take my word for it) plenty of midnight oil will be burned.

The most important step, in the preparation for the year's work, is the choosing of the staff, selections being based on literary talent and dependability. The first responsibility of the literary editors is to establish a theme around which the book is planned, and to construct the "dummy," which is the annual in diagram form. When this is done, and all the pictures have been taken, the fun begins. The senior, the activity, and the athletic write-ups have caused many a headache, and are even said by some people to be the cause of insanity. When the assignments are completed, when the proofs from the engraver are put on the copy sheets, when the copy sheets are sent to the printer, when the cover is selected, then, and not before, one may lean back in his chair, take a deep breath, and relax. Theoretically, there are no more worries for the staff, but, strange as it may seem, the biggest worry is yet to come. For what they want most is for you students to really like the Gleeman.

Business Staff

EILEEN SOISSON
Business Manager

DONALD McCLENAHA
Asst. Business Manager

"More ads! More ads! We're short two hundred dollars!" These words should possibly be used as Mr. King's epitaph. For certainly his unfailing patience and uncanny methods of producing money have succeeded in keeping our annual properly financed.

Each year the schedule has been practically the same, but making it a success was quite a job. The first effort on the part of the staff was the subscription campaign which was encouraging; then came the time-honored Jim-Jam, with its stunts and dancing—its results were amazing. Still more money was needed to fill the coffers of the bill collector, so, in response, the "Gleeman," in partnership with the "Belle Hop," introduced the Glee Hop, which proved another financial success. Then for the last time we imposed upon the good will of the students by asking for old clothes and other worn-out articles for a rummage sale. The money from this, together with the profits from the advertisements, finally balanced our budget. And so again we were fortunate enough to publish another annual and still keep our heads above water financially.

Girls' Athletic Club

"What, another G. A. C. meeting?" asks Mr. Ellenberger each Monday afternoon, as Room 2 rapidly fills with girls. Surely, no other introduction is necessary to one of the most popular clubs in the school.

The swift upward climb of the Girls' Athletic Club to the significant position it now holds in Bellevue High is common knowledge. None of our other organizations can boast of being really "exclusive," for the G. A. C.'s is the only one which demands a unanimous vote for membership. The numerous requirements have been the cause of much work and worry on the part of all girls interested in sports; however, judging from the number of applicants, the reward is well worth striving for.

Aside from the regular weekly meetings, the girls plan a profusion of social events. By far the most amusing of these is the annual volleyball game with the women faculty members, although initiation banquets run a close second. Chapel programs, a Christmas project—one could go on indefinitely naming the affairs which fill up the remaining dates of the G. A. C. calendar.

Here is a group of girls which has actually accomplished its purpose: to develop character, leadership, and sportsmanship in Bellevue High School.

*Dear Barbara - I'm awfully glad

Players' Guild

*Yours truly,
Jane Derry*

Fellows with a suppressed desire to be black-mustached villains, and girls who wish to be innocent, lovely heroines are given a golden opportunity in the Players' Guild of Bellevue High.

The club was organized two seasons ago for the purpose of teaching some of the fine points of acting and to provide trained casts for future plays. Previous to its organization the only activities which offered a chance to the students to display their ability were the senior play and class night, and these were naturally reserved for the seniors. Though formerly open to all classes, membership in the guild this year was restricted to the sophomore and junior classes.

After a fine start the progress of the guild was severely hampered by several disappointing situations. Mr. Burrell, the sponsor, was further handicapped by the small number of boys among the members. Since the cast of most plays calls for more men than women, it was necessary to open the membership to the senior class. This overcame the difficulty and progress was once more restored. The guild chose three plays—"Jane Clay's Mother," "The Pot Boiler," "The Man in the Derby Hat"—and, after carefully choosing the casts, prepared to present them.

Thus we draw the curtain on the year's activities, feeling certain of many more fine performances from the Players' Guild.

The Belle Hop literary staff, under Mr. Montgomery's supervision, labored diligently to publish a paper every two weeks.

Several new departments and features were presented to the students on probation and were readily accepted, the most popular being the "Eavesdropper," better known as the "dirt column." To ascertain the characteristics of well-known students, by means of a brief, informal description, was the purpose of "In the Spotlight." The other three new features were: The Guest Writer Column, the Lost and Found Column, and the Poetry Department. The Guest Writer Column enabled students not on the staff to contribute various articles to the paper. The purpose of the Lost and Found Column is explained by its title. The poetry section is the first attempt on the part of the Belle Hop to establish a column in which school talent can be displayed. Through the Belle Hop, the various clubs and organizations of the high school have been able to announce and publicize their social events and activities.

Completing the year in black was the task faced by the business staff of the Belle Hop. With Miss Leyda as the sponsor and Edward Reif as business manager, this group made possible the publication of a bigger and better paper.

The September campaign was enthusiastically supported by the student body, four hundred fifty subscriptions being obtained in a week's period. By dint of dogged determination a large number of ads was secured from our local merchants. Aside from this routine method of securing money, the business staff did a share of work in making the first "Glee-Hop" a success. They built the scenery for the play presented by the Byron King School of Oratory and acted as competent ushers. This play, in conjunction with a dance in the gymnasium, was the first social event dually sponsored by the Belle Hop and Gleeman. The funds thus garnered enabled the literary staff to publish the paper without the usual fear of bill collectors.

Band

A rhythmic beat of drums, a blare of trumpets, and the band swings on the field to the strain of "Bellevue Will Shine." The high-stepping drum major with his twirling baton, the band, attired in snappy red and black uniforms, the stirring music, did much to improve spirit at the football games this year.

From the swelling chord as the opening kick-off soared through the air to the triumphant melody of the victory march, its inspiring strains accompanied the cheering spectators. After a year of inactivity, the reappearance of this organization was met with sincere enthusiasm on the part of the students as well as by the forty band members who responded. Yet this is more or less to be expected of any activity under the sponsorship of Mr. Ruthart. Though the group was hastily organized, the blending of the uniform number of various types of instruments made up for their lack of experience. The baton, which was a gift from the Parents' Musical Association, aided in directing their marching formation.

Bellevue High School has boasted of its orchestra and chorus for a number of years, yet practically nothing at all could be said for its band, which should be one of the best boosters of school spirit. Now that the high school has awakened, we look forward to a band of which we may be proud.

Orchestra

Hear ye! Hear ye!—all lovers of music, both of semi-classical and classical. The Bellevue High School orchestra salutes you with their interpretation of Schubert, Tchaikowsky, Bach, and many others.

Aided by its increased enrollment to eighty musicians, this organization, under the able leadership of Robert H. Ruthart, familiarly known as "Teach," again lived up to its traditionally high standard. In addition to its routine schedule in connection with chapel, plays, and other entertainments, the orchestra, together with the glee clubs, presented a chapel program of beautiful Christmas music just before the Yuletide holidays. The orchestra, by invitation of the Men's Brotherhood, gave a concert in the East Liberty Presbyterian Church.

The outstanding entertainment was a joint concert with the Glee Club and Junior High School orchestra, in which they played the required and selected numbers for the contests held later in the year. Lack of competition made the orchestra county champions for the fifth successive year. A covetous glance is being cast upon the state blue ribbon award. A fitting tribute was paid to this organization when sixteen of its members were chosen for the All-Western Pennsylvania District Orchestra.

A Cappella Choir

Mr. William Blough, our new musical director who came to us from Myersdale, Pennsylvania, has maintained the high music standard set by his predecessors. Despite a late start, for Mr. Blough did not arrive here until November, the chorus has progressed rapidly. The members of the choir have shown their interest and enthusiasm by attending frequent practices at the noon hour, after school, and in the evenings. Though their schedule has been a busy one, they have carried it out remarkably well.

The mixed chorus, robed in all their velvet and satin finery, first sang for us at the Christmas chapel. Early in January they put on an impromptu performance in assembly. In January, a very busy month for them, the choir gave two concerts. The former was given at a North Side church and the latter was presented in our auditorium in conjunction with the orchestra.

On March 18 the choir won the county contest, which was presented in our high school auditorium. From here they proceeded to the district contest, which was held April 9, in Elizabeth, Pennsylvania.

Girls' Glee Club

Have you ever wondered what precedes any one of the many outstanding performances of our Girls' Glee Club? Upon looking into this matter, we don't have to search long before the evidence of hard work presents itself. Individuals or groups of girls may be seen running here and there on errands, or in the distance all four score and ten may be heard practicing diligently. Then vague chapel announcements and snatches of conversation make us realize that these girls are raising money for robes by such means as bake sales and concerts.

All that is merely background. We, the audience, need be concerned only with the finished product. Seventy girls, standing serenely before us, sing the songs we love most. All their performances make us proud to claim them as our own. Don't be under the illusion that the chorus attained this height by the girls' efforts alone. If praise is given where it is due, Mr. Blough is in line for a big share of it.

The organization has participated in two outstanding events this year: first, the joint concert consisting of both choruses and the orchestra, then the county contest. Their splendid performance gained for them a favorable rating.

French and Spanish Clubs

"Maintenant, je pense qu'il faut que—

"No! no! usted no tiene razon, tenemos que—

"Non! tous les deux ont tort—

If you hear those strange words, don't be frightened, we haven't any radicals in our midst, just members of the French and Spanish clubs discussing the future. The purpose of these clubs is to promote a better fellowship between nations by widening the horizon of the too-often provincially-minded student, and to give a preview into the art, literature, and philosophy of another people. Goethe has said, "He who does not know another language does not know his own."

As yet, neither organization has been very active due to the short time of their existence. However, included in the list of their accomplishments is a picnic, a banquet, and individual assembly programs.

The only requirement for membership is the successful completion of a year's study of either the French or the Spanish language. Members of the first year classes will be invited to join when they have acquired sufficient knowledge to understand the discussion. Miss Leyda and Miss Johnston are the able sponsors of these clubs, a welcome addition to Bellevue High School's list of activities.

Row I—O'Donnell, Dyehouse, Eshleman, Schiede, Ziesler, Lancaster, Sharmin, Miss Metzger, Miss Buttermore, Amon, Schneider, Acker, Ruprecht, Wilson, Falck, Stuart.

Home Economics Club

We wonder if those freshmen realize how lucky they are? Just imagine being up on the third floor most of the time, and smelling all those delicious odors that permeate the air in that region!

The Home Ec girls are training to be perfect housewives by learning to cook a king's dish under Miss Buttermore's instructions, and learning to sew a robe fit for royalty under the guidance of Miss Metzger.

The club holds monthly meetings, which are a combination of social and business affairs. Best of all—they eat at every meeting! At the beginning of the year a schedule is made for the year's activities, which call for both parties and serious programs. The Home Ec girls have received with enthusiasm several interesting talks given by fashion and food experts, the most interesting being the representative of the Birds' Eye Frosted Foods Company.

The main social events have featured the Christmas party with grab-bag gifts, the Valentine party with "heart interest" refreshments, and the Senior Farewell Banquet—a sweet but sad occasion. In this manner the Home Economics Club, mixing business with pleasure, provides valuable moments for our future housewives.

Commercial Club

A new, educational, and decidedly different activity has been started in our midst—the Commercial Club.

This club has many possibilities. First of all, its membership is restricted to a group of students genuinely interested in furthering its purpose. Only those junior and senior students who carry two or more commercial subjects and make a "C" average in all their subjects are eligible for membership. Furthermore, the membership is limited to fifty, so you see it may be considered an achievement just to be a member of this organization. Its purpose, more educational than that of most activities, is to create a desire for higher scholarship in the commercial field, to provide vocational guidance, to keep the commercial student in touch with the outside world and to promote good fellowship among our commercial students. The meetings consist of the discussions of problems which arise in their field of work and valuable talks by people from the business world.

What other club in our school offers more? When the able sponsors, Miss Guckert and Mr. Burrell, and the enthusiastic members perfect their plans for the future, the Commercial Club will become an indispensable part of Bellevue High School.

Row I—Craig, Easton, Hamm, M. Pohr, Rieb, A. Pohr, Heinz, Bennett, Wagg.

Standing—Miss Guckert, O'Neill.

Quill and Scroll

Did you ever wonder how the high school journalists, the ones who strive day after day to turn out a successful publication, are rewarded for their efforts? Well, their biggest satisfaction comes from seeing their words in print, and next in line is their membership in the international association of the Quill and Scroll. This association was organized not only to reward any achievements in high school journalism, but to offer helpful suggestions along that line of work. Membership in the chapters is by invitation and is extended to juniors and seniors who stand in the upper third of their respective classes, and who have performed meritorious work or have shown outstanding ability in school journalism. Those recommended for membership must be approved by the executive secretary of the national association. Members in the society are entitled to wear a pin evidencing the honor bestowed upon them.

The Bellevue chapter of the Quill and Scroll was granted its charter November 30, 1926. Due to the fact that membership in our chapter is construed in a purely honorary sense, it does not engage in activities or undertake projects—considering individual membership as the final reward for achievement.

Foot

Early in September a group of light and inexperienced but very determined athletes turned out for football practice. Without the services of any one of last year's team, the result was bound to be a slow start, but when their peak was reached they were superb.

The opening encounter found Bellevue's cardinal-clad Bulldogs fighting a heavier, more experienced eleven, under the floodlights at Etna. This defeat proved to be a great offensive exhibition, but showed a Bellevue defense that needed bolstering. Bellevue threatened seriously in the final period, but a scoring punch was lacking and Etna emerged the victor by a 19-0 count.

After a week of tiresome drilling, the Bulldogs faced a blazing sun and a powerful Dormont aggregation. The line showed an improved defense, but the secondary was unable to stop the Dormont aerial attack, thus dropping the fracas by that same 19-0 count that had been registered the previous week.

In their first engagement on the home field with Sewickley, the Bulldogs only failed to show defensive form in the first few minutes of play. Both teams scored early in the game, with Bellevue missing conversion, while Sewickley garnered the sacred point which spelled victory.

The initial victory of the season came when Bellevue displayed rare form in smashing out a 12-0 victory over Perry. Here the Bulldogs reached their defensive heights as Morcroft's accurate punting kept Perry back on her heels.

Ball

While the Bulldogs showed a marked improvement in defense at the season's halfway mark, their offense was not at a standstill. Each game showed surer blocking, harder running, and better timing. With the development of two complete lines capable of full-time service, Bellevue was fast becoming a real powerhouse.

Water polo would have been more appropriately played on the home field the day Bellevue outswam Crafton. In the muddiest game of the year, the Bulldogs did their best ball-handling, scoring in the first quarter on a thirty-yard pass.

In the greatest display of power and deception shown all year, Bellevue romped to a 19-0 victory over a favored Brentwood eleven. On two beautifully executed aerals and a sustained drive, the Bulldogs rang up three touchdowns.

Taking the field against a highly favored Coraopolis team was a determined Bellevue eleven. Displaying their best defensive work and showing their most powerful running attack, the Bulldogs upset the applecart with a 13-7 victory.

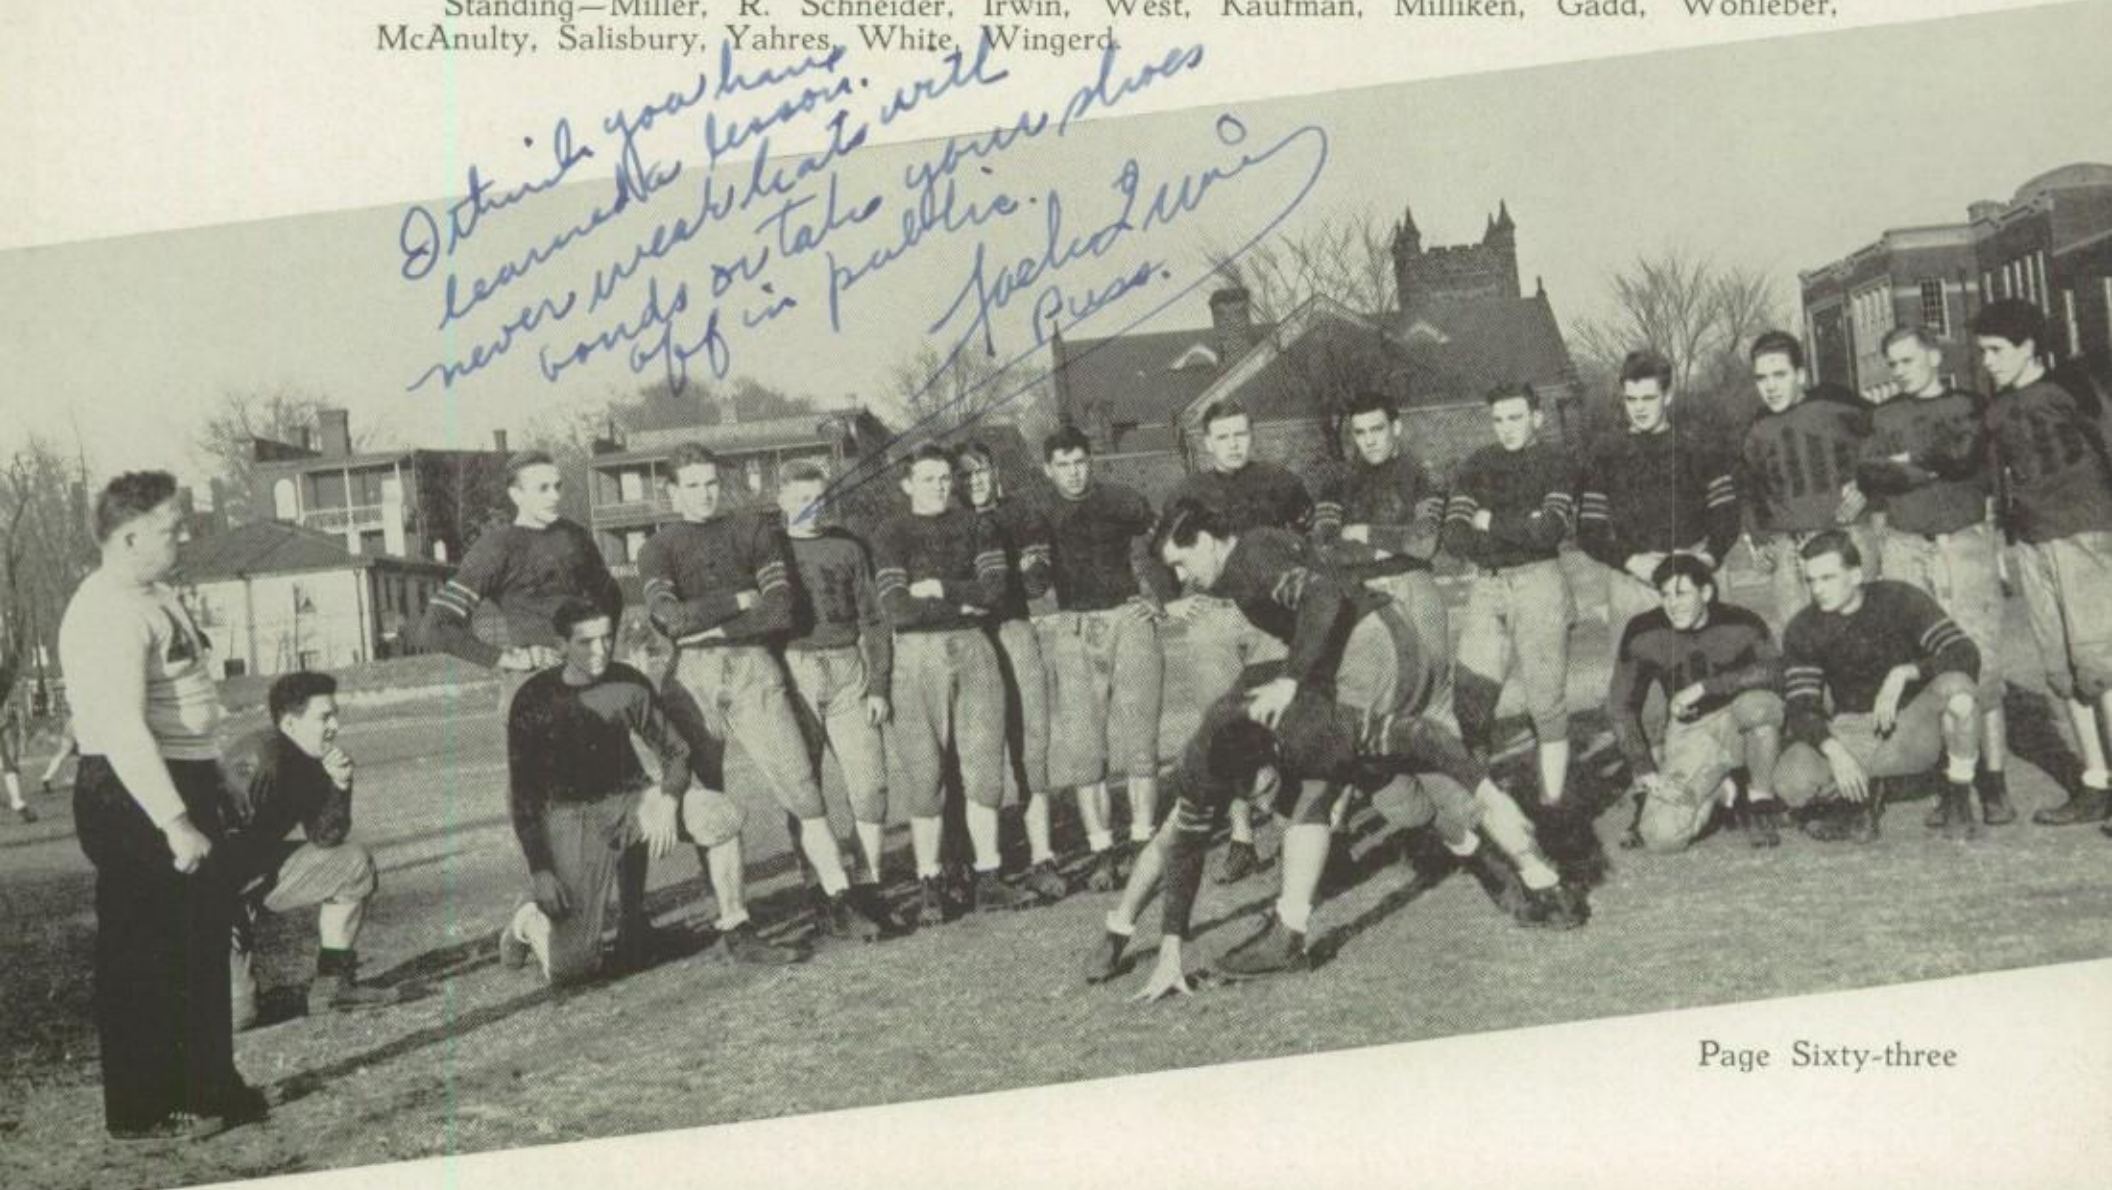

Bellevue's fifth straight victory of the season was registered in the final game with Neville. Aside from the form in which the team coasted through to victory, the game was disappointing in two respects: it lacked the glamour of a season finale with Avalon and resulted in the serious injury of a fine athlete and a real fighter, Jim Weppner.

WOHLEBER—A guard who really dug in and fought, especially when the going was tough. Dick was best known for his down-the-field blocking.

BOARDMAN—This fine end was noted for bouncing enemy tackles out of the way. This and his speed under punts made "Boots" an excellent flank.

BRACKEN—This hearty player was noted for his fleetness of foot. This and his spirited signal calling made Jim a valuable quarterback.

McANULTY—Whether in spilling the interference or making tackles, Mac was a great terminal. The morale of the team was strengthened by his spirit and determination.

W. P. I. A. L.

With a veteran team boasting speed, endurance and deception, the Bellevue Bulldogs opened another banner season on the hardwood floor. Section XI, known as one of the toughest in the league, presented some very interesting opposition. The majority of the games were well-played, hard-fought struggles, decided only in the last few minutes of play. Bellevue emerged from the exciting season as the champions, losing only one game to a smart, but inconsistent Leetsdale five.

Drawing a bye in the first round of the play-offs, Bellevue was fated to meet McDonald of Section XV in the second round. McDonald was the team that dethroned Burgettstown, who had beaten Bellevue in the finals of the '37 eliminations. After a tight defensive battle for three quarters the Bulldogs came from behind in the final period to down the "Macs" by a 19-16 score.

After a few days' polishing by Coaches Zundel and Shope, the Bulldogs went into the semi-finals against a favored Claysville team. Bellevue showed a marked improvement over their play in the previous game. The game was th hardest fought battle of the tournament, but Bellevue's determined spirit brought them a 24-23 victory.

Going into the finals for the second straight year, Bellevue was again the underdog. The Bulldogs made a courageous bid for victory, holding the big Verona team in check for nearly three quarters. As the halfway mark was reached in the final period, Bellevue trailed by fifteen points. Using their last ounce of strength, the Bulldogs made the most spirited attempt to overcome a lead that has ever been witnessed at the stadium. The Verona height, however, finally overcame the Bellevue courage and scored a 48-33 victory.

MORCROFT—

Captain Morcroft is truly a gold medal player. His uncanny ability to handle himself and his team like true sportsmen has brought him the greatest reputation of any player in the league.

LUDWIG—

"Robe" was a past-master in the art of feinting. His steadiness and consistency, together with some beautiful shooting, pulled the team through many a tight spot.

SWAN—

"Ducky's" ever-fighting spirit and cool, quick thinking have been a tremendous advantage to us this year. Next year should find him as one of the smartest players in Section XI.

MANKEY—

This Sophomore forced his way into the lineup in quite a few games. His rapid-fire six points in the first Ben Avon game sparked the team to victory.

WOHLEBER—

Grit and determination placed this player on the varsity. Handicapped early in the season with a football injury, Dick climaxed his work this year with high-scoring honors in the Claysville game.

The hardest blow of the season was felt when "Boots" was lost to us in mid-season. His continuous fight and amazing ability to get the ball on the rebounds was missed tremendously in the playoff games.

HAMMER—

Phil was a finished product of the last year's reserve squad who proved a valuable team-worker. Smoothness and an eye for the basket were the assets of this fine forward.

SMITH—

This was "Smitty's" first year on the varsity and he certainly proved himself a strong addition to the team. His left-hand passing often upset the opposition.

JOHNSTON—

George showed his colors in the Sewickley game. His sharpshooting was the outstanding feature of the second half. We could use George nicely next year.

DUNCAN—

"Buzz" was the most faithful player on our team—never missing a practice. We're sorry he's graduating, for he would have been a valuable asset to our next year's team.

Soccer

Soccer was a big item in this year's sport calendar for the girls.

Although a surprisingly small number of sophomores and seniors came out for soccer, there were enough girls to make up the class teams. The first few practices were accompanied by a muddy field, sore muscles, and bruises, later the freezing weather invigorated the girls, helping them to forget their aching bodies and making the games faster and more exciting. When the teams were finally chosen, there was much excitement among the girls. Fortunately, most of those eliminated were underclassmen and thus they stand a good chance of making the teams next year. After the first few games it was seen that the "frosh" and sophomores definitely didn't have a chance, that it was a "toss-up" between the juniors and seniors. Lo! and behold, a toss-up would have been necessary to decide the championship, for the final game ended in a scoreless tie.

Then the Army and Navy teams, composed of the best players from all of the classes combined, were chosen by Miss Seldon. Again the victor was undecided, for the two games played also ended in scoreless ties.

Basketball

Swish! A nicely executed field goal gave the juniors a lead which they never relinquished, defeating the seniors, 23 to 15.

February 8 marked the opening of the girls' basketball season. A total of seventy-two, the largest number in years, showed up and the practices got under way at once. Each class had the floor to itself for a day, while the coaches, selected by Miss Seldon from the G. A. C. members, taught the would-be basketball stars the fine points of the game. In selecting the teams the freshmen presented the hardest problem, for they had enough girls interested to form six teams. After careful consideration, the final selections were announced, the schedule of the games was posted, and the round-robin got under way. Todd led the scoring for the juniors and Tishlarich set the pace which kept the seniors from being "white-washed." Those girls not picked for the class teams were given their chance to play in another league composed of "color" teams.

At the conclusion of these series the best players from the combined classes were chosen to perform on the Army and Navy teams. As in the other sports, these two teams provided the most thrilling games of all.

Seated—Smith, Schmitzer, Doerfler, Hartley, Braden, Stonerod, Rockey, Dodds, Klemz, Keller, Barrett, Tishlarich, Van Vranken.
Standing—Soisson.

Todd, Heilman, Boardman, Shephard, Markle, Albright, Lancaster, Ross, Rea.

Mushball

*Between the summer and the winter,
When the robins are beginning to sing,
Comes a pause in the year's activities
Known as the spring—and with the spring
Comes the mushball season.*

A hush of expectancy settles over the team at bat, while Gloom and his little imps of discouragement seize the nine girls in the field. Silently, swinging their bludgeons, the "Murderers' Row Quartet" edges toward the plate, the first girl steps into the box, takes a mighty swing at the ball, and pulls up safely at third. Yes, these four girls—Rea, Markel, Todd, and Boardman are as famous in Bellevue as the real "Murderers' Row" in New York. This explains why the junior class turns out such fine mushball teams.

A surprisingly large number of girls come out for the class teams and are put through the paces of strenuous practices. The beginners are taught the fundamentals of the game. Then the nine best girls are picked from each class and the play-offs begin. Yet, strange to say, all of the specified number of games for the championship have never been played. Anyhow, it's a favorite sport among the girls, for they get their exercise and have a lot of fun.

Swimming

"Come on in, the water's fine!" So are our mermaids from Bellevue. Miss Seldon has produced many an excellent swimmer and graceful diver from her classes.

To say the least, the turn-out for the swimming meets this year was very disappointing. This is surprising, for beauty technicians have preached for years, girls, that swimming keeps one's figure trim. Enough girls, however, were available to hold a number of practice sessions and a few competitive races. First the beginners were sorted out and the members of the Girls' Athletic Club assisted Miss Seldon in teaching them to swim. Classes for the advanced swimmers included lessons in the proper forms of the back-stroke, crawl, breast stroke, and diving.

Races were finally begun after the first few weeks of practice. To enter the finals in the various strokes the girls had to be victorious in several elimination heats. The crawl and back-stroke races were the most exciting, with Margaret Markle carrying off the honors in the former and Marcia Wachter in the latter. Class teams were not selected because of the scarcity of participants, but next year's meets are expected to be as thrilling and interesting as those of former years.

Ah, what have we here? The seven hundred wonders of the world at work and play. A journey behind the scenes at dear old B. H. S.

These men are warm-hearted, and rightly so, for 'tis they who keep us warm in spite of wintry blasts.

Let us view the mistresses of sport. It is quite plain there are no dumb belles here, but many adept handlers of the Indian clubs.

By chance a wrestling match is being held — only one of the many activities Mr. Ohr's boys indulge in.

Tour

A new deal in shop! Young electricians, ironworkers, and cabinetmakers pursue their hobbies here.

Quite frequently about the halls we are wont to see some winsome maid surrounded by her wistful swains.

Pursuing "parallel lines into infinity" delights the mathematical minds apparently absorbed in demonstration by friend Gadd—I wonder?

"United we stand" to salute our country's flag, prior to another of the extremely good assembly program which we are fortunate to have.

Here the reins of discipline are held in firm, yet gentle, hands. These people make the path to higher education less rocky and difficult.

*With Luck and Love

We see the students gathered in the institution's culture center. Friendly Miss Studer aids us in our search for knowledge.

Our sciences are not neglected, and we see the creative members of our group intrigued by formulae and equation. Here work the Pasteurs of tomorrow.

Hidden talents are given full sway in the art room. With brush and palette, pen and pencil, these boys and girls pursue their inclinations in the field of art.

A door opens and we are swept aside by the thundering horde. We find ourselves traveling in the wrong direction, and it behooves us to turn about and follow the crowd.

Our hearing is slightly impaired by the rhythmic clicking, clacking, that greets us as we enter the Office Practice room and survey the private secretaries of the future.

The delightful odor of freshly baked cake assails our nostrils. Have some? Yum, yum! This is truly an asset to any school.

An almost lost art among our young moderns is preserved in our sewing course. We observe the efficient, hard-working seamstresses with pleasure.

We arrive in time to see the passing of the robe. A time-honored tradition at B. H. S. Passing on the responsibility and honor to new seniors, from new alumni.

The senior play gives us real enjoyment, for fine settings and excellent acting provide a dramatic triumph for the young Thespians.

While we're all here, let's stay for the Junior Prom, the year's big social event, while the spring mood and soon is in the air.

Perhaps you would like to see the Christmas Dance. In beautiful setting, Brad Hunt prepares us for the holiday season with his "sweet swing."

Ten Years After

June, 1948.

Mr. and Mrs. America:

This afternoon we take you to North Park (now the "garden spot of America") where the class of '38, Bellevue High School, is holding its tenth anniversary picnic. Mayor "Jimmy" Knox has just come up in his limousine, driven by "Cowboy" Cullison, the famous racing driver. Alderman Gadd has succeeded in starting a game of mushball. Jack Mallon, the silk stocking manufacturer, and Coach Ralph Morcroft of Tulane University, are picking the teams. Lieutenant Voelker of the Marines; Jack Ingles, chain store manager; Ralph Meister, "Y" secretary; Dr. Ed Reif, and Bill Barger of Bracken Wrecking Company have started to play. John Murray is at bat—you've seen him posing for Esquire many times in the past ten years. Tim Chaney, lightweight champion of the world, is pitching. Murray hits a high one which is gathered in by Bob Kress, winner of the Cleveland air races for the third consecutive year.

We leave the game and amble over to the swimming pool, where we are greeted by Mary Frances Morcroft, of stage, screen, and radio fame. Shirley Christie is sun-bathing at this end of the pool. Joe, by the way, is a teller in the Malloy Title and Trust Company. There is Bryan Moorehead (now playing Rhett Butler in "Gone With the Wind," which went into production last month) chatting with Joe Godkin, the owner of a large theater chain. They are being joined by James Janes, director of Tech's Kiltie Band, and Rear Admiral Hattman. Egon DeZubay (the used car king) is now joining the group. At the pool's edge sit "Boots" Boardman, wealthy due ranch owner, and Jockey Bill Bailey, discussing the latter's chances of winning the Derby on "Cherry Pop," which you all know is owned by "Shine" Habel, prominent drug manufacturer.

Dr. Metzger, Ballistics Expert Jim Murray, Gentleman Farmer John O'Neil and Radio Announcer Tom Redman are pitching horseshoes. Ah! there's Honest Abe Fawcett and Boss McClenahan, who are grooming Bob Casey for the next gubernatorial race. When Casey wins, the Fawcett and McClenahan machine will run the state.

Some of the fellows are playing water polo at the other end of the pool. There are Bob McCartney, owner of the Bank Nite Syndicate; Bill Gutendorf, of the Brooklyn Dodgers; "Tailspin" Griffith, of the T. W. A.; John Forrest, contractor; "Pickles" Rodgers, who still holds the world's record for the half-mile; Nelson Moffett, tractor salesman, and Dick Woodward, millionaire ping-pong paddle manufacturer.

Let us stroll over to the outdoor kitchen and see what is going on there. Mildred Barton Bald is in charge of the food preparations. Her husband, Jack Bald, owns a string of big transport trucks. Preparing plates, we see Mary Louise Barrett Cullison, Joan Helt, Marion Dowling Hattman, wife of the admiral; Jean De Carlo Wasilak, Frances Keller Ludwig, and Ida May Logan, all fine housewives; Jean Van Vranken, noted authoress; Janet Wohleber and Maxie Schumacher are laying out napkins. Janet tells me that Grace Waggoner and Sam Walliser, railroad executive, finally got married. Jane Zeisler, Audine Dear, Loisjean Falk, Audrey Barnes, Frances Amon, Betty Twaddle, Doris Duncan, Norma Scheide, Viola Schmitzer, Eileen Soisson, Dot Stewart, Harriet Dauber and Mary Louise Smith are some of our other good housewives. Veronica Smith owns a tea room in New York City and is doing very well. There go Dorothy Arnold and Antoinette Birsic, who are teaching school at our Alma Mater. Lorraine Dell, Mary Elizabeth Fleming, Esther Hanna, Laura Klemz, Dorothy Kelly and Marie Schonie are also teaching, but at different schools. Leading the group now coming from the pool is Dot Konkle, who married Joe Godkin. In that group we see Bill Harris, radio singer; "Chuck" Goodnough, auto salesman; "Oats" Sauer, catcher for the Yankees; Jack White, C. P. A.; Francis Williams, commercial artist; Dolly Armstrong, with husband Ed Kean, who is national billiards and pocket pool champion, and "Chuck" Beam, who won the academy of arts award for his painting, "Sea Gulls." As we walk to the tables we meet Doctor Willis Bowman of Harvard University. With him are Bill Berger, stock broker, and Frank Comella, labor organizer. From Jack Thompson, steel executive, we learn that Roger Wood is editor-in-chief of McCall's Magazine.

Now that everyone is seated, we can identify some more of the old gang. There is Warren Beaver, of the Beaver Taxi Company, talking to Walt Bonnell, the present heavyweight wrestling champ. Bob Moody and Dave Lewis are real estate brokers. A wire has just arrived from George Johnston, in South America. Most of you have read his latest travel book, "Around the World in 29 Minutes." Bob McAnulty has come all the way from his citrus fruit ranch in California. Bob Mueller and Graves Birnie own a flour mill in Minneapolis, and are doing quite well. We have finished a lovely meal, and shall prepare for the evening's entertainment. We are attracted to the rose-covered pavillion by Jack Egly and his New Yorkers. On the way over we meet Forrest Schumacher, president of the Trojan Chemical Company. With him are Bill McAleer, radio technician, and Fred Weingartz, office manager of Jim Schneider's trunk factory. Marge Rockey is showing us a new dance, accompanied by the orchestra. I understand that our class has produced several fine private secretaries and bookkeepers. Some of them are: Dorothy Kuntz, Ruth Hartley, Mary Fletcher, Grace Betcher, Betty McCrae, Doris Bloomer, Jacqueline Charles, Harriet Doerfler, Kathleen O'Reilly, Dorothy Marlin, Jean Thompson, Evelyn Oliver, Grace Neilson, Eleanor Bodner, Adaline Summers, Betty Marshall, Jean Morgan and Clare Muchow. All of these girls have made good. Most of the gang are dancing and we'll try to pick those out whom we haven't heard from yet. Oh, yes, there is Edith Knapp introducing her husband to Frank Stulen, distinguished aeronautical engineer, and his wife, the former Miss Dorothy Ralph. Dancing with "Chuck" Wolford, inventor, is Nancy Sundstrom, who, with Helen Rea and the Otto girls, owns a smart dress shop in New York. "Chuck" Egans, clothing manufacturer, and Jean Sargent, his wife, are chatting with Ed Fisher, well-known referee, and his wife, Betty Hinds. Haydn Evans, dairy owner, and Virginia Rider, wife of a Boston publisher, are dancing together. Lois Davies, dress designer, is dancing with "Johnny" Fitzpatrick, movie producer. From Betty Riggs, short story writer, we learn that Helen Downs has given several concerts in Carnegie Hall as cello soloist. Bob Duncan, banker; Jim Heuring, salesman; Ken Jackson, lawyer; Jerry Dixon, gym teacher; Dick Wohleber, owner of a large gas station chain; Marjorie Braden, columnist on the Pittsburgh Press, and Jean Huebner, personnel manager for "Chessie" Williams' steamship company, are obtaining a little close harmony around the fire. Earl Worbs, the radio comedian, is entertaining another group with some of his brilliant wit. The group includes Joe Koontz, auto accessory manufacturer; Ray Love, advertising executive; John LeWalk, sports writer; Harvey McCampbell, drug store owner; John McGrath, member of the State Legislature; Bob Thompson, General Motors executive; Fred Wilson, criminal lawyer; Evaline Van Arsdale, drama critic; Phyllis Washington, woman doctor; William Thompson, manager of the Pirates, and Joanne Tishlarich, noted pianist and composer.

Filled with happiness and satisfied curiosity, we find a seat in a quiet corner and idly watch the seething turmoil of the dancing couples. Memories of our high school life pass through our minds—of the dances, and games, and detentions, and nights of cramming for examinations. We are filled with a desire to again enter the portals of Bellevue High and pursue our studies with these, our friends. We tell ourselves that though faces and statures have been changed with the passing of years, they are still our friends at heart. Tucking this bit of philosophy into the back of our heads we again join the group, to find them in a large circle, holding hands. With the singing of our Alma Mater we close a perfect class reunion and return to our different walks of life. We'll see you again in 1958. This is station KBHS signing off.

GIVE HIM TWO
CHANCES INSTEAD OF ONE

*Dear Bob
it's been fun knowing you
Fidelity Trust Co*

THROUGH a trust fund at this institution you can protect your son's inheritance until he has gained sufficient skill and experience to handle it himself.

Instead of having him receive the entire bequest when he becomes of age, you can arrange to have him obtain only a portion of it at that time.

Later, when he reaches greater maturity, the remainder can be turned over to him. If he made mistakes with his early inheritance, this latter fund will give him his second chance.

We will be glad to discuss this phase of trust service with you at your convenience.

THE history of a university is the story of men struggling with disappointment and commonness and frustration for that which they have called by various names, some of them practical — honesty, good sense, security; and some of them visionary—freedom, goodness, beauty. A university is a protest against dullness and a prayer for strength and wisdom. AGNES LYNCH STARRETT, Through One Hundred and Fifty Years: The University of Pittsburgh.

Dear Barbara
"Bobby" - I'm
oh, so very very glad
I got to know you. I did this year - it's been awful to talk to you & know you understood how I feel about everything. But seriously talk about it's been really grand to talk to you - at club & stuff. I love you -
Buckley
